

Name _____ Date: _____

DHCP Server Setup Questions

- 1. How many scopes can we enabled on a Windows 2003 server?
- 2. How many DHCP servers are typically on a local area network?
- 3. IP addresses exclusions are typically what devices?
- 4. What two DHCP options would be typically set for a remote installation server setup?
- 5. A client computers' network interface card TCP IP version 4 general properties option button is set as what?
- 6. Generally the DHCP server has two network cards. The external network card is set as _____ IP address configuration. And the internal network card is set to _____ IP address configuration.
- 7. Can a DHCP server also be set up for Internet Connection Sharing?
- 8. Explain the process to remove the DHCP role from a Windows 2003 server.

Network Administration

9. What are the first two pieces of information needed to be provided in developing a new DHCP scope?

10. The default duration for DHCP leases on a Windows 2003 server scope is?

11. How long should a DHCP lease time be on a wireless NIC on a Windows 2003 server scope?

12. IN the Option setup for a new DHCP Scope, what three types of devices that can be set?

13. To view the computers that are active on the DHCP server, select _____ on the DHCP window.

14. What problems can we have when we have more than one DHCP server that is not restricted by a Domain Controller?